

Flower Prawn

Panaeus semisulcatis

Family: Penaeidae

How they are grown and harvested

Flower prawns live on the sandy bottom of near-shore and lagoons of Sri Lanka. They are predominantly nocturnal and bury in substrate during day-time. They are sustainably caught by local fishers and transported live to our holding facility.

Available as

Live, HOSO fresh chilled.

Available sizes

15 – 150 grams

Sustainability details

Divron works with rural fisher communities in Sri Lanka to sustainably grow and harvest the prawns, supporting thousands of families through improved income and better futures.

Resources

The Life of Prawns : A story and film produced by Market Development Facility of Australian Aid.

Divron.com
sales@divron.com

Pure Natural Sustainable